FULLTEC

Fulltec Cube is a strong blend of plant health components that activate the plants natural defense systems to make the crop more resistant to fungal and bacterial attacks. A healthy plant combined with the right amounts of nutrition is vital for high-yield crops.

Main Benefits:

Protection

The natural fungicides and amino acids from Fulltec Cube will protect plants from most fungal and bacterial attacks.

Stay-green

The combination of nutrition with plant health keeps the leaves greener until the end of the crop cycle.

Nutrition

The nutrient package keeps more blooms on the plants and keeps major diseases out of the field.
