Description

FULLTEC REFORCE

Fulltec Reforce is a high-performance solution designed to enhance crop resilience against both biotic and abiotic stresses throughout development. It supports nutritional balance and physiological activity, boosts photosynthetic efficiency, and strengthens the plant's antioxidant defenses – helping to minimize potential yield losses under challenging conditions. Additionally, it works synergistically with pesticides to deliver optimal productivity outcomes.

N · Mg · B · S · Zn · Amino Acids · Phosphites

Main Benefits:

Plant Defenses	Enables the activation of plant natural defense compounds, increasing tolerance to pathogen attacks during the cycle.
Crop Development	Improved plants' photosynthetic efficiency throughout the cycle, ensuring greater energy production in critical phases of crop development.
Grain Filling	Greater grain filling and productivity with broad compatibility and safety during phytosanitary management.
